MARKET OUTLOOK

The market again today worked bullish during almost all Day, about speculations of Pakistan buying's of whites, about 100K, and possible rain on the C/S Brazilian region which could delay the beginning of crushing. The producers that didn't hedge their production are taking any chances that the market gives to do that now. The macro scenario has the dollar index working slightly positive +0,19%, what pressures a little the prices of commodities, however the sugar correlation is not too expressive on this last few months. The raw settled 39 points above, while the whites had +$16,00, both on May contract.
