MARKET OUTLOOK

Sugar today worked close to unchanged during almost all day and was again pushed to the negative side close to the settlements. From fundamental side a support its being given to the to the prices with a significant amount of rain on C/S Brazilian region fueling the domestic prices specially from ethanol what may turn the production mix. The open interest showed about 100,000 contracts of K/N spreads to be switched, because funds obviously won't keep K0 lots, and for trading houses there is no reason to maintain long position in the actual scenario. The dollar index inverted from this morning and works negative now -0,08%, what didn't bring any effect to commodities that are bearish too. The raw had 51 points of drop, and refined +$7,40, both on May contract.
